Commitment Issues

For the challenge, I extracted the zip file provided. I entered the drop-in directory where I observed that the project had been managed using the Git version control system, as evidenced by the .git directory. However, from the hint provided in the challenge task, I ran the command `git log --oneline` to inspect the history of the commits performed, where I found that the commit message discussed the creation of the flag message and the deletion of important information. Since Git version control systems allow the recovery of past versions of a file, among other operations, I ran the command provided in the commit message, `git show 87b85d7:message.txt`, to view the contents of the file in the past commit, which held the flag.